Principals Message

Hello everyone!

It has been another busy week and lots going on at Abbeyfield. The PPEs have run very well, and our students have approached these successfully, maturely and with lots of confidence. Well done to all our Y11 students and thank you for your support with these.

It has been lovely seeing our National Careers Week take place too and so many sessions taking place and a number of students engaging with these. It is always lovely seeing the mix of year groups interacting with each other too.

World Book Day was a lovely success, and it was great to see so many staff dressed up. It was a wonderful day and spirits very high. I am pleased to say we will be re-introducing mufti days at the school and raising money for a charity/initiative that will benefit the school. We will be reaching out to pupils during assemblies this term to discuss this further and to gain ideas to help us move forwards. The Sixth Form and School Council members will be pivotal in helping to organise these events and I am excited to hear their ideas.

I hope you all have a lovely weekend when it arrives.

Safeguarding

It was a busy couple of weeks back and we continue to work hard to ensure our students are safe inside and outside of school. Here are some key updates.

Assemblies:

Next week, we will be holding assemblies alongside our police colleagues educating students on the dangers around indecent images.

We will be showing the students this video:

If you would like further advice or support around concerns that your child could be sending or receiving indecent images, these websites may be of use:

Year 11 Exam Anxiety Support Group:

Our amazing in-house counsellors will be holding a 4 week exam anxiety group for Year 11 students who are particularly anxious about their upcoming exams. Staff are currently nominating students for the group and if your child has been selected, you will be sent an email informing you.
